UNARMED. adj. [from unarm.] Having no armour; having no weapons.
On the western coast
Rideth a puissant navy: To our shores
Throng many doubtful, hollow-hearted friends,
Unarm'd, and unreluctant to beat them back. Shakespeare.
He all unarm'd
Shall chafe thee with the terror of his voice
From thy demoniac holds, possession foul;
Thence and thy legions, yelling they shall fly,
And beg to hide them in a herd of swine. Milton.
Though unarm'd I am,
Here, without my sword or pointed lance,
Hope not, bafe man, unquesti'd hence to go. Dryden.
Whereas most other creatures are furnished with weapons for their defence; man is born altogether unarmed. Grew.

UNARRA'IGNED. adj. Not brought to a trial.

UNA

As lawful lord, and king by just descent,
Should here be judg'd, unheard, and unarraign'd. Daniel.

Unask'd, thou tak'st such pains to tell me only
My son's the better man. Denham's Sophy.
The bearded corn ensu'd
From earth unask'd, nor was that earth renew'd. Dryden.
How, or why
Shou'd all conspire to cheat us with a lye?
Unask'd their pains, ungrateful their advice;
Starving their gain, and martyrdom their price. Dryden.

UNASPIRING. adj. Not ambitious.
To be modest and unaspiring, in honour preferring one another. Rogers.

UNASSAILED. adj. Not attacked; not assailed.
As I intend, Clifford, to thrive to-day,
It grieves my soul to leave thee unassail'd. Shakespeare.
I believe
That he, the supreme good, t' whom all things ill
Are but as slavish officers of vengeance,
Would send a glitt'ring guardian, if need were,
To keep my life and honour unassail'd. Milton's Comus.

UNASSAILABLE. adj. Exempt from assault.
In the number, I do but know one,
That unassailable holds on his rank,
Unshak'd of motion. Shakespeare. Julius Caesar.

UNASSA'YED. adj. Unattempted.
What is faith, love, virtue unassay'd
Alone, without exterior help sustain'd? Milton.

UNASSISTED. adj. Not helped.
Its victories were the victories of reason, unassisted by the force of human power, and as gentle as the triumphs of light over darkness. Addison's Freeholder.
What unassisted reason could not discover, that God has set clearly before us in the revelation of the gospel: a felicity equal to our most enlarged desires; a state of immortal and unchangeable glory. Rogers's Sermons.

UNASSISTING. adj. Giving no help.
With these I went, a brother of the war;
Nor idle stood, with unassisting hands,
When savage beasts, and men's more savage bands,
Their virtuous toil subdu'd: yet these I sway'd. Dryden.

UNASSUMING. adj. Not arrogant.
Unassuming worth in secret liv'd,
And died neglected. Thomson's Winter.
